The smart way to measure & track your weight

Follow your weight curve, any time, any place. The Wireless Scale is Wi-Fi enabled to measure and record your weight every time you step up on it. You can track changes in your mass and estimated body mass index over weeks, months and years. Data is saved on a private password-protected site and can be accessed anywhere from a computer, tablet or smartphone. If you're particularly brave, you can even have the scale "tweet" your weight to Twitter automatically!

Make sure your headphones can keep up with you

Yurbuds are designed by athletes who couldn't find earphones that would stay in, stay comfortable and let in enough outside noise to stay safe in any environment. Their solution is Yurbuds: a comfortable earphone, sized to each wearer with TwistLock™ adjustable earpieces. All Yurbuds deliver ambient noise awareness and they are guaranteed to not fall out or cause discomfort, even during the toughest workout.

Listen to your favorite music and hear traffic, too

Designed by an audiologist, earHero's speakers are so tiny they won't block your ear canal. You can talk on a separate phone or hear whisper-level conversations without removing the covert earpieces. When used in sports like skiing, cycling or running, earHero increases safety by keeping you aware of your surroundings. The earphone wires are so thin and clear, they are nearly invisible, and the design is so comfortable, you'll barely realize the earpiece is there.
